LORD HARTINGTON SPEAKS

Address by the Liberal Leader at Manchester—A Somewhat Indefinite Statement of Policy—Severe Criticism by the London Times

LONDON, Oct [illegible]—At a liberal [illegible] at Manchester [illegible] Lord Hartington [illegible] the [illegible] administration [illegible] attitude of [illegible] regarding foreign affairs and the charge that a change [illegible] the government would [illegible] settlement [illegible] said

Liberals are aware that eternal [illegible] obligations [illegible] which [illegible] were made [illegible] We have felt in the beginning that the [illegible] of our [illegible] that its consequences [illegible] will be [illegible] We know that the engagement [illegible] the government has [illegible] must be [illegible] any statement by any responsible leader of the liberal party to the contrary. We are asked what our policy will be. [illegible] the future [illegible] we can [illegible] one thing certain [illegible] England [illegible] the policy of any other power

There is not a power in Europe except England which has not known the horrors of foreign invasion in the present century. It is natural that the foreign policy of every other state should be greatly influenced by the dread of a recurrence of such disasters. It is not to be wondered at that other states view with suspicion the policy and every movement of nationalities for the disturbance of the balance of power, and I say that England which is to a great extent free from apprehension of this kind may see unmoved a great deal that passes in Europe which naturally excites the suspicions and apprehensions of other nations

But while the heart of our empire is the source of all its power and greatness and enjoys this remarkable exceptional security England [illegible] through her many colonial possessions and her Indian possessions more likely to vital injury and to injury of a different character but not less vital than any other state. The conclusion which I derive from these considerations is that England is less fitted by her position and the nature of her resources than any other power for a policy of military administration. The prime minister spoke the truth when he said that the resources of England were so great that if she went to war she would not have to consider whether she should maintain the war for one or for three campaigns. That I believe to be true but it is also true that England is less prepared than any other power for the first campaign, and no minister ought to advocate war or go to war without asking himself the question whether the cause is so obviously just in the eyes of the whole people that they will be ready to make those long, continued and protracted sacrifices which would be necessary for the prosecution of the war. Nor does it follow from these opinions that the policy of England ought to be one of selfish unaccommodating isolation

I believe the resources of England to be so great and her naval power so great that her alliance will always be courted in Europe. That alliance ought to be used for the purpose of forming and joining in a combination of the states of Europe for the purpose of preserving the peace and independence of Europe repressing the aggressive ambition of any power protecting the weak against the strong the free against the oppressor. This is a policy which has always been in the main adopted by the liberal party. It has been the policy of the present government

The Agitation by Liberals.

MANCHESTER Oct 26.—The great liberal demonstration was continued here Saturday. Marquis of Hartington and John Bright made speeches, vehemently attacking the government

Comments on Hartington's Speech by the "Times"

LONDON Oct. 26.—The Times, in a leading editorial article commenting on Lord Hartington's speech at the liberal demonstration at Manchester yesterday, says Lord Hartington cannot be congratulated on his speech neither in its general character nor in its details was it equal to the occasion or what might be expected of the leader of a great party at a critical moment in the political history of the country. Lords Hartington and Salisbury differ respecting certain broad facts, and the country will not be on the side of the liberal leader

TROUBLE AGAIN AT SAMOA.

Capt. Chandler of the U. S Ship "Lackawanna," now at Pago Pago, Reports a Bad Condition of Affairs.

WASHINGTON Oct 25.—A communication in regard to affairs at Samoa received by the secretary of the navy and laid before the cabinet meeting yesterday, is from Captain R Chandler commanding the U S steamship Lackawanna. It is dated Apia Samoa, Aug 23d last, and concludes as follows

On the 23d of this month the British high commissioner Sir Arthur Gordon is expected here in one of her majesty's ships. As he is just out from England he may be empowered to annex the Samoan group of islands or establish a protectorate. If that proves true I shall protest against the annexation of Pago Pago harbor and the land set aside or assigned as a coaling station ceded by treaty to the United States, and go there if necessary to protect our station. In future Pago Pago being in a direct line from San Francisco to New Zealand and Australia, will be a very important point especially if our commerce in these seas increases as it is likely to do. As article two of our treaty with Samoa surrenders that harbor to us I would advise most respectfully the immediate establishment of a coaling station there even if the amount of coal landed amounts to only a few tons

Capt Chandler then mentions receiving as part of his instructions from Rear Admiral Rogers a telegram sent to the admiral from the secretary of the navy as follows

Disturbance at Samoa. Send vessel to protect citizens in rights acquired by treaty. Avoid complications.

He continues

I have endeavored to the best of my ability to avoid complications and to protect Americans but I think a well educated honest lawyer without the privilege of engaging in business is the only man that can properly represent our government as consul here for it requires one well versed in law and diplomacy to meet and cope with the complicated state of affairs now existing

Capt Chandler's dispatch and a number of accompanying documents give detailed accounts of domestic disturbances connected with the conflict between the old and new parties. On the 17th of June the German consul and acting British consul made a protest to the American consul against the position of Gen Bartlett, a private citizen in connection with the old government. Capt Chandler also reports that chiefs of the new party paid a visit to the American consul to inquire whether the United States would punish them if Bartlett was killed in war. The consul informed them that they would not be punished but requested them to take Bartlett alive if possible and deliver him to the consul which they agreed to do. The report shows the condition of governmental affairs to be very complicated. There are three so called governments. One that of the old government party, which occupies and controls a portion of the territory, another the opposition occupying another portion and the government of the American British and German consuls over a portion which is recognized by the conflicting parties as neutral

Radical Change Proposed

Some days before the Ohio election the Boston Herald had a suggestive article outlining a future policy for the democracy. The result of the election renders a new line of policy more necessary than ever. At present the Herald says the democrats are going it blind but thinks their necessities will force them to make a radical change of position. But the change it proposes would be so radical that the party could not survive the wrench it would receive says the Herald

When the liberal party in England failed to pass a reform bill Ben Disraeli who is something like our Ben Butler having captured the conservative party made it pass a reform bill larger than the liberals had considered feasible. That is to say the conservatives became more liberal than the liberals. What if the democrats under the lead of Ben Butler Simmons Usher [illegible] Oliver Warner and Phil [illegible] Bazer should become better defenders of human rights than the republicans themselves? What if they should insist upon protection for the colored voters of the south make combinations with them appropriate money for education and all the things which the most progressive [illegible] is expected to do

Is Things What they Seem, or is Visions About?

From the Chicago Tribune

Brigadier General Joseph Blackburn of Kentucky reading the returns from Ohio says to himself musingly, "Did I say so [illegible] did I dream that I said in the house of representatives at Washington, that we democrats would not be satisfied till we had repealed the last vestige of the war legislation?"

SAN FRANCISCO Oct 25.—At the Palace hotel this evening General Grant was tendered a farewell banquet by the citizens of San Francisco. Every means had been taken to render the affair the most perfect of its kind ever given in the city. The company consisted of about two hundred and fifty prominent gentlemen. The decorations of the banquet hall were of the most elaborate description. The tables presented an elegant appearance and the menu was engraved on solid silver plates intended to serve guests as souvenirs of the occasion. That prepared for General Grant was of massive gold. Mayor Bryant presided and toasted the guest of the evening in an appropriate speech to which the latter responded as follows

Gentlemen of San Francisco: The unbounded hospitality and cordiality I have received since I first put my foot on the soil of California has taken deep root in my heart. It was more than I could have expected, and while it has entailed some little fatigue at times, I assure you that I have only been gratified for it. I have previously been in California and on the Pacific coast but I have been away a quarter of a century and when I landed here the last time I found that none of the pioneers had grown old but if I should remain away another quarter of a century I might be compelled to confess that some of you had grown old (Applause) And I want to see you again in your prime and youth. Gentlemen in taking my departure I want to thank you all for the farewell reception given me this evening, and to express the hope that whether or not I am to have the happiness ever to visit your city again I shall at least meet one and all of you elsewhere, and if it should not be in this life that it may be in a better country

The evening passed pleasantly many of the gentlemen present responding happily to the sentiments given, but at a comparatively early hour the party broke up with many expressions of mutual pleasure and good will, and at midnight General Grant and party proceeded to a special train in waiting and left for Virginia City

A Magnificent Trot at Oakland Park in Honor of Grant—St Julien makes the Unprecedented Time of 2:12¾.

SAN FRANCISCO Oct 25.—This afternoon Gen Grant attended an exhibition trot gotten up for his entertainment at the Oakland track. He arrived on the ground at 1 P M escorted by ex Mayor Pardee of Oakland president of the Golden Gate Park Association under the auspices of which the exhibition was given. Mayor Bryant of San Francisco, Senator Sharon and Chas Crocker. A large crowd had gathered and greeted the ex president with hearty cheers. After a brief handshaking and an excellent lunch the general was escorted to the judge's stand and exercises began. The day was fine and the track in excellent condition. The first event was a trot between eight third class trotters, who were so evenly matched that the race was rather interesting though the best time made, 2:28 was slow. Between heats St Julien was brought out to beat the best time made by Rarus. St Julien was followed a short distance by a running horse. At the word St Julien was under the wire at a square trot and for the entire mile never made a skip nor a break coming in in the unprecedented time of 2:12¾ apparently but little the worse for his magnificent effort. He was driven by Orrin Hickok. The result was received with prolonged cheering. Gen Grant doffing his hat and making as much [illegible] as any one. The general returned to San Francisco at 5 P M. This evening he attends a grand farewell banquet at the Palace Hotel and at about midnight he will take a special train for Virginia City on his way east

Grant at Carson City

CARSON, Oct 26.—Gen Grant and party arrived here at 6 15 P M. The greatest enthusiasm was manifested. The streets are ablaze with bonfires and the capitol and business houses are profusely decorated. Reception to morrow at 9 30 A M. Party leaves for Virginia at noon

OPPRESSIONS OF THE TARIFF

From the Sacramento Record Union Rep]

We have already alluded to the evil consequences of the tariff on steel rails and the effect it has in increasing the cost of transportation for the sole benefit of the Pennsylvania manufacturers. The well known economist Mr J S Moore writes to the New York Evening Post a letter bringing the statistics of the tariff in this connection into such clear and strong relief that we cannot refrain from availing ourselves of a few of its illustrations. For example steel rails cost in England to lay [illegible] 10s a ton and if there was no duty they could be laid down in New York at $30 a ton. But as there is a duty of $28 a ton on steel rails it would cost $58 a ton to import them. Hence scarcely any are imported the total amount for 1878 having been of the value of $[illegible] and for 1879 of $70 0[illegible]. The price of home made steel rails on October 1st was $[illegible] a ton or $2 more than they could be laid down for if there was no duty. Now all that the treasury has obtained out of this tariff during the last ten years is $3 100 but since the steel rail makers assert that they will make a [illegible] tons of rails this year we have as a result the fact that they will bleed the railroads of the United States which means the people to the amount of $[illegible] 000. The people [illegible] that fares and freights are too high. Well here is a single item of $[illegible] which is laid on the railroad companies as a necessary burden and which they must of course pass on to their customers [illegible]. But as this is how ever it is not the worst. Mr Moore shows that the eleven steel rail companies in the United States combine to pool profits and that they are so [illegible] the tariff that they can [illegible] to pay one of the large [illegible] for doing nothing whatever [illegible] some of its works for the purpose of forcing prices up. Now these works cannot be shut down without throwing thousands of workingmen out of employment. The effect therefore is that the government through the tariff robs the people in order to enable a handful of rich manufacturers to divide great profits which they have not earned at the expense of the enforced starvation of American workingmen. This is one of the direct and clearly traced consequences of the tariff. It seems hardly credible that a people at all removed above barbarism can patiently submit to such gross and open injustice and injury as this abominable system of impost entails.

A Cabinet Meeting Decides to Give the Management of the War to the War Department—General News of the Situation

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES OF THE OREGONIAN]

WASHINGTON Oct 25.—The following telegram was received this evening, by the commissioner of Indian affairs

LOS PINOS Oct [illegible]—(In camp near Hays) Arrived at 1 P M [illegible] everything quiet at present. Have had a talk with Ouray and two couriers just arrived from the hostile camp fifteen miles this side of Grand river about halfway between here and White River agency. Mrs Meeker Miss Meeker Mrs Price and her two children are prisoners in [illegible] camp. The courier met Gen Adams last night one day's march from the hostile camp. Ouray believes that the prisoners will be delivered to Adams. At the Thornburgh massacre 23 Indians were killed and two wounded. After Thornburgh's fight the Indians knowing of Merritt's approach made preparations for a great battle and were on the eve of attacking when they received orders from Ouray to cease fighting and retire which they obeyed. I will wait here the return of Adams when the Indians expect to hold a grand council, the result of which cannot be foreseen

POLLOCK Inspector

The War Department to Take Direct Management of the Ute War

WASHINGTON Oct 25.—At a cabinet meeting yesterday opinion was unanimous that the interior department should suspend intercourse with the refractory Utes, leaving the war department to deal directly with them. Gen Sherman says that the troops in southern Colorado are ready to move immediately should Adams fail in his mission

The Captive Women and Children Surrendered Unharmed to Commissioner Adams—He is Hopeful for the Future—A Skirmish between Hostiles and a Scouting Party

WASHINGTON Oct 26.—Secretary Schurz at a late hour to night received a dispatch from special Agent Adams dated at camp at White river October 24th via Rawlins, 25th. He reports that he visited the camp of the hostiles between Grand and Gunnison rivers and that after holding a conference with them, the captive women and children were delivered to him without conditions. He then proceeded to Gen Merritt's camp on White river, where he arrived on the night of the 23d. He informs the secretary that after conferring with Gen Merritt, he will return to the camp of the hostiles and proceed thence to Chief Ouray's home at Los Pinos where he expects to arrive on the 30th inst with a view to accomplishing the other purposes of his mission in which he hopes to be equally successful. He adds an expression of great hopefulness that further hostilities may be wholly averted. Gen Adams also reports that after leaving the hostiles country he met Indian runners who reported that their "look out" had a fight on the 20th inst., with a hunting party from Merritt's camp, brought on accidentally by scouts firing on the Indians, in which a scout named Hume, Lieutenant Weir and two other whites and two Indians were killed. The Indians claim that they were posted at that point merely to observe the movements of the troops and that they did not want to fight and did not fight until Hume killed one of their number. In this telegram reference is made to a dispatch sent to the secretary from Plateau creek on the 21st announcing the rescue of the captive women and children and probably furnishing details of the conference but that dispatch has not yet been received

Another Account—A Fight Reported at Milk River

RAWLINS Wy Oct 25.—A courier just in with dispatches from Gen Merritt's camp on White river reports that Gen Chas Adams U S peace commissioner came into Merritt's camp on the morning of the 24th with the woman and children of the Meeker and Price families. The captives were unharmed and had not been subjected to any insult or injury. The Indians desire peace and claim to have been forced into the outbreak. Terms of surrender have been forwarded to Washington. Scout P Moon came into camp on the 24th. He had been attacked by a dozen Indians and corralled all night escaping with difficulty. The camp is surrounded by small bands of Indians who are running off horses and lying in wait for stragglers. The body of the chief of the scouts, Humm was found by the cavalry on the 23d and buried. He had been killed at the time Lieut Weir fell. The body of Lieut Weir will arrive in Rawlins about the 1st of November. A fight is reported at the old battle ground on Milk creek between Utes and ranchmen. No particulars received as yet. A pack train with supplies reached Merritt's command on the 22d. The command is very much in need of all kinds of supplies. Another talk will be held with the Indians in a few days

Suspicious Circumstances—More Trouble Feared

SALT LAKE Oct 26.—The Tribune is in receipt of the following special to-night

GREEN RIVER Wy Oct 2[illegible]

Considerable uneasiness is caused here by the non arrival of the mail due this evening from the Uintah agency. A man from the south who has just arrived reports that two hundred horses belonging to the Edwards boys on Snake river [illegible] have been stolen by Indians. Three of the Edwards are missing and the ranch is deserted. Settlers are moving out of Brown's Hole on Green river fearing Indian troubles

The gambling bill being made the special order of business at [illegible] P M came up and received its first baptism of fire passing through the ordeal most bravely

Mr White chairman of the judiciary committee to whom the bill was referred moved to amend the bill in many important particulars making it much less stringent and sweeping in its measures declaring that legislation never did nor could reach men's morals and that its attempt invariably resulted in evasion or contempt of law

Mr Shaw wished the original bill to stand declaring that if we were to have a gambling law he wanted a tight one that would stop all gambling

Mr T[illegible] favored the original bill upon the ground that Oregon has one similar in its measures and that it was not found to be too strict

Mr Dowar also favored the original bill maintaining that the amendments virtually killed the efficacy of the act and stating that such a law strictly enforced was a necessary protection against a gambling evil

The bill was ultimately recommitted for further consideration

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, OCT. 27, 1879.

THE LATE "ORGANIZED" DELINQUENCY.

Nobody expected that the organs of that system of extravagance and plunder which Grover "organized," and which was made to render him political service while it enriched his ring supporters, would have other words than those of excuse and apology for District Attorney Whitney. They have done their best to justify and defend the robberies, and have fairly run over with malignant defamation of all who have been active in exposing them; so of course they would praise Whitney for his efforts to screen the delinquents. These organs were all in the Grover ring. Their managers had a hand in the spoliation. When, therefore, the Salem Mercury and Portland Standard uphold Whitney and denounce Gov. Thayer, Judge Harding and others for their efforts to recover for the state the great sums out of which it has been swindled, everybody knows just what they mean and how to account for their conduct. It is in substance the culprit's customary plea of not guilty, and an expression of his bad opinion of his prosecutors and of the law. Only that and nothing more.

The testimony furnished by the committee of investigation is pronounced ex parte only, and it is declared an unheard-of thing to condemn persons on ex parte testimony. It so happens, however, that the testimony was nearly all obtained from the official records made by the plunderers themselves, and from their own statements. True, it was difficult to draw these statements from them. At every stage of the investigation they employed equivocation or evasion, and at times refused to answer at all. What was drawn from them was in most instances obtained as if it had been extorted by the rack. Men who are accustomed to hear and sift testimony know that, after all efforts, only the surface of the vast mine of peculation and corruption was reached. But enough was discovered to make a record so black that not one of the accused dares ever again to face the people of Oregon as a candidate for public position. It is a piece of unusual hardihood for the plunderers to assert that the testimony is ex parte and therefore unfair, when in fact much the greater portion of it was furnished by their own enforced admissions.

But even if it were true that the testimony was one-sided and therefore likely to be unfair, how are the people to account for the efforts of the accused and their confederates to defeat a fair, open and legal investigation? Every possible effort has been made and continues to be made, to obstruct the proceedings. Technical advantages are seized, dilatory pleas interposed, grand juries manipulated. A proper method to clear away this charge of an ex parte proceeding would be to insist upon and push an open investigation in court. But when, instead of this, every possible obstruction is put in the way of a judicial investigation, the public will be apt to conclude that the parties who have been arraigned by the report of the legislative committee before the bar of public opinion for malfeasance in office, really want no further inquiry made, but think it safer to stop the proceeding where it is, and try to make it appear that they are the victims of persecution, on ex parte testimony.

This thing will not do. The charges against officials of the late administration are not answered by allegations and complaints that the course of "the Thayer-Bush-Harding ring" is not satisfactory to "the party." No doubt, in the candid judgment of the members of the late "organized" administration, as well as in that of thick-and-thin partisans who habitually defend everything done in the name of their party, the thing demanded by "the party" and the proper thing to do, is to squelch this whole proceeding utterly and forever, and to punish as mutinous slaves and renegade rascals, by expulsion from the favors and councils of the party, all democrats who have had anything to do with urging it. But that still would not answer. Official misconduct is not to be concealed and condoned on the plea that the developments would "hurt the party," and that line of defense might as well be abandoned at once. The people of Oregon demand a straight-forward proceeding on this subject, in the way appointed by law, with a view to recovery of the money of which their treasury has been plundered; and they are not convinced of the innocence of the parties accused by the trumped up excuses thrown as a bar to further inquiry and prosecution. There is a real case against the late organized delinquency known as the Grover-Chadwick administration. If other testimony were wanting, the present course of the defenders of the late profligate administration would supply it.

USES OF ADVERSITY.

Eastern democrats, trying to put the best face possible on the result of the Ohio election, declare their satisfaction that the heresy of their party in that state on soft money has brought signal punishment at last. They regard the overthrow as a result which will force the western wing of their party to submit to a hard money platform and an eastern candidate in 1880. Friends of Mr. Tilden assert that this rout in Ohio puts Thurman, Ewing and Hendricks all out of the presidential race. But while the eastern element of the party extracts what comfort it can from a result which it interprets as the death of the rag-baby, the candid ones admit nevertheless that the prospect of their party has suddenly become a gloomy one, and they denounce the leaders of the western wing for their folly. Democrats of the more moderate classes also criticise severely the course of their southern brethren, both at the extra session and in their states during the summer. The recent utterances of Mr. Tilden in regard to the solidifying effect in the northern states of the blunders of the extra session and of lawlessness at the south, are generally recalled by his friends and their wisdom pointed out. All this is melancholy business for a party which a year ago was so confident of its strength and invincibility, and so assured of complete and permanent ascendency, that it no longer considered it necessary to disguise its purposes, but boldly proposed not only to introduce confederate doctrines into the administration of the government, but to establish those doctrines as the true interpretation of our system. Now, however, it will pause awhile, as Bob Toombs found it necessary to do after he announced his purpose on a certain occasion to call the roll of his slaves from the monument of Bunker Hill.

BETTER LEAVE IT TO THE ARMY.

Between the war and interior departments there has been almost an "unpleasantness" growing out of the Ute affair. Officers of the army have expressed great impatience at being hampered by the notions and methods of the Indian bureau. Gen. Sheridan in a dispatch to Gen. Sherman complained in substance that in consequence of the cross purposes and conflict of authority neither Gen. Crook nor himself knew what to do, and added:

> There are 1500 men at White river. Their road to the Uncompahgre agency is over the main range of the Rocky mountains and is very bad, and the danger of being caught by winter snow should be seriously entertained. We went to the White river agency at the solicitation of the Indian bureau, whose agent was murdered and our men killed and wounded, and we are now left in the heart of the mountains with our hands tied and the danger of being snowed in staring us in the face. I am not easily discouraged, but it looks as though we had been pretty badly sold out in this business. It is folly to say that the murderers of the agent and Col. Thornburgh must be punished. How are they to be punished? Who is going to [illegible]? And how long are the troops to wait [illegible] the supplies be [illegible] the only course left open.

[illegible] the dispatch which nettled Secretary [illegible] and which he has attempted to answer, as our dispatches have shown. It is pretty evident that the paltering with Utes had better cease, that the agents of the Indian bureau should be withdrawn, and the settlement of the business left to Gen. Sheridan. If he makes another Piegan affair of it the settlement will be all the more thorough. A dispatch to-day indicates that the interposition of the interior department is to stop, and that the war department is to have exclusive control of the methods of dealing with the Utes.

Lieut.-Commander Gorringe, U. S. N., to whom the work of bringing Cleopatra's Needle to this country has been intrusted, writes from Egypt that he has had an audience with the Khedive, who has authorized him to begin the work of removal at once. The great monolith was given to the city of New York by the Khedive, and the city, having formally accepted the gift, will set up the column in a suitable locality. It will be remembered that the companion stone has been conveyed to London and erected there. Probably this one, destined for New York, will be transported the same way the other was to London; that is, a great iron cylinder will be built around it, and then it will be floated and towed to its destination.

California has at last got in front on the trotting horse question, as St. Julien on Saturday beat the time of Rarus, which was 2:13¼. This horse is not a native of California, having been sold in New York and brought to the Pacific coast in 1876. He is by Volunteer, a son of Rysdyk's Hambletonian, and is supposed to belong to Robert F. Morrow, a well known stock operator of San Francisco.

The Roseburg Star, in an article on the desperate condition of the democratic party, as indicated by the vote in Ohio, is of opinion that Mr. Tilden is "exclusively indispensable" to the party now, and those democrats who have been "fumbling with stray issues in the hope of getting rid of Mr. Tilden" are invited to make a note of it.

If there is any compliment to Senator Sharon in those remarks made by Gen. Grant it is so extremely subtle that few will see it. It rather looks as if Sharon might prefer to be protected from the pleasantry of the illustrious guest to whom he gave a reception that cost him forty thousand dollars.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast.

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES.

HAS RETURNED AFTER AN EXTENSIVE tour of the Eastern States, for the past four months. The Doctor while absent visited all the principal Medical institutions in the large cities of the United states, and comes back with all the modern methods, instruments and appliances known to the most scientific men in the profession. The Doctor has also brought charts and manikins to illustrate his lecture.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN has been fifteen years lecturing on the Laws of Life and Health. In his private and public lectures he has taught men and women the true system of life, how to be healthy and happy, if they would only be guided by his wise cousel. But all cannot hear his delightful and instructive lectures, nor can he tell everything necessary for suffering humanity to know from the public rostrum before a promiscuous audience. There remains much to be learned from him as his experience extends over broad fields of active professional life. This knowledge so necessary to the welfare of the sufferer can only be gleaned by private Professional Consultation at his office.

His experience in the various parts of Europe and America give him such opportunities of learning the delicate diseases which the human family are prone to their mode of treatment and permanent cure, as no other physician on the Pacific Coast can claim. He has not only treated these diseases most successfully, but has made them a life study, as a few moments' consultation will prove.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical profession.

It is true that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to work until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Those who call in time upon DR. PAUL M. BRENAN need have no fear but what he will restore them to perfect health and vigor, make their body cure and their mind content if they will only follow his advice and treatment.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bowels, etc., he can cure without fail. No quack Nostrums used, no stop treatment, no false promises.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally, and fine Surgical Operations performed.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.] WASHINGTON, Oct 27.—12:35 A. M. For Pacific coast, clear and fair weather.

The Garibaldi.—The Astorian of Saturday says: "Capt Forbes clears the Garibaldi to-day, having cleared from Portland on the 23d. No question was raised, he informs us, with respect to the number of Chinese that went on board of the Bee, and he did not expect that there would be any question in regard to the number the Garibaldi was taking. In fact, he says he was told three years ago, on a former voyage, by the custom house officials to "take all he could" as the state could afford to spare them. He was greatly surprised on getting ready to clear the vessel to find that the Chinamen had to be counted, and as no survey of the ship for passengers, nor any preliminary work had been performed by the officers, he could not determine how many passengers he was entitled to carry until he reached Astoria. Here the vessel was subjected to the inspection which should have been made in Portland, and the excess of her human cargo sent ashore. It was hard treatment for the Chinese who had paid their fare, but could not be helped. Capt. Forbes has been informed that the Bee took over 400; if so, he suspects that the rich Chinamen who chartered her paid for the privilege of getting off as they did.

A New Mission School.—About one hundred ladies and gentlemen, members of the Presbyterian Church congregation, met at the old academy building yesterday afternoon and organized a mission Sunday school. Mr. J. B. Wyatt was elected superintendent, Mr. Valentine, secretary, and Mr. Wm. M. Ladd, treasurer, with the somewhat onerous addendum to provide money to support the school. The trustees of the Presbyterian Church have recently bought a lot at the corner of Tenth and Columbia streets, and will next year erect a chapel thereon, which will be presented to the school organized yesterday. Until that time its sessions will be held in the academy building, commencing each Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

From Astoria.—A special telegram to the Merchants' Exchange from Astoria at six o'clock yesterday afternoon says: British ship City of Vienna, British bark Norman McLeod and British ship County of Denbigh towed out in the morning; steamship State of California from Portland arrived down at 2 P. M., and went to sea at 5 P. M.; British bark Sea Lark, in tow of the Ordway arrived from Portland at 4:30 P.M. The Ordway left at 6 P. M. with barge for Portland.

Another Steamer.—The steamship Hylton Castle, of 1266 tons register, left Newcastle, England, for Victoria, September 25th. She comes by way of Rio Janeiro, Valparaiso, Callao and San Francisco. On her arrival she will enter the trade as an opposition steamer between Puget Sound, Victoria and San Francisco, carrying passengers and freight. She will be due about December 5th.

Arrested for Larceny.—Saturday evening a man named Michael O'Halleran was arrested by officer Taylor on a warrant issued from Gervais, Marion county, charging him with larceny. O'Halleran is charged with stealing a shawl, table shawl and some other articles from Joseph Matt, of that town. He will be returned to Gervais.

Attention! Knights Templar.—There will be a special conclave of Oregon Commandery, No. 1, Knights Templar, at their Asylum, Masonic Temple, on Wednesday evening, the 29th inst., at 7:30 o'clock, for work in the Red Cross and Templar degrees. Every Sir Knight is requested to be present.

Home Again.—Dr. Paul M. Brenan, having returned from an extended trip to the Eastern states, has reopened his office at No. [illegible] First street, between Pine and Oak. He is ready to treat all manner of diseases. Consultation free. Full particulars will be found in another column.

Sample of Many.—The following note is published merely as a sample of scores received at this office. The note is dated "Cartersville, Georgia, Oct. 10, 1879," and reads as follows: "Will you please send me a specimen copy of THE OREGONIAN and greatly oblige, L. [illegible]."

Clean Up.—Mr. Braden, superintendent of streets, is calling on property owners and impressing upon them the necessity of repairing sidewalks, removing wood from the streets, and trimming shade trees, in accordance with the requirements of the ordinance.

U. S. Circuit Court.—Judge Deady will sit this morning in the U. S. Circuit Court in the case of the Pacific Rolling Mills Co vs. Warren, Sheridan and Grand Ronde Railroad Co. et al., on the exception to the answer of the several defendants.

Sailors Arrested.—About one o'clock yesterday morning two sailors were arrested for following a citizen in a suspicious manner. The man became alarmed and blew his whistle and the two fellows were gathered in by officer Sheehan.

To be Launched.—The new iron ferry boat is rapidly approaching completion, and will make her first plunge into the river some day this week.

To Salem.—Fred P. Jenkins, the man who was sentenced to the penitentiary for the term of three years by Judge Bellinger, has been taken to prison.

AMUSEMENTS.

H. M. S. Pinafore.—Everything for the proper production of this most successful opera is progressing well. It is a matter of congratulation and [illegible] that Portland possesses enough local talent to [illegible] nearly all the principal roles and chorus. [illegible] it should be, other cities having in nearly all [illegible] relied on their local talent in producing [illegible] opera, and in most instances with great success. In fact the best companies east have been composed of members of church choirs and musical [illegible]. From the well known ability of some of the ladies and gentlemen who are now rehearsing [illegible], it is safe to say that it will be a thorough success, and it is a pleasure to chronicle that for the musical treat now being prepared the public [illegible] depend on our own local favorites, and not upon imported amateurs from San Francisco or elsewhere. This is a step in the right direction, and [illegible] congratulations are in order for Manager [illegible], the ladies and gentlemen taking part in Pinafore, and the public at large.

THE MECHANICS' FAIR.

SIXTH DAY.

A Gala Day—Immense Attendance Afternoon and Evening—The Ladies' Department—Other Special Exhibits.

The second annual exhibition of the Portland Mechanics' Fair Association is a grand success. If anything had been wanting to convince the few croakers that Portland and Oregon would heartily support such an organization the attendance Saturday afternoon and evening must have quieted their fears. From one until half-past ten P. M. not less than 5 thousand persons visited the fair, and during the entire evening the galleries were jammed. Visitors could make their way through the over crowded aisles only with great difficulty, but everybody was in a good humor and everybody endured the jostling and pushing of his neighbor, and seemed rather to enjoy it. When asked by an OREGONIAN reporter how much the receipts for the day were, President F. C. Smith replied: "I can't tell. We haven't had time to count yet, but I guess we've taken in a barrel full."

show a few samples of cassimeres taken indiscriminately from their stock, several blankets in white, gray, blue, mixed, red and white double, blue and white double, and mottled and white double blankets, some as fine to the touch as the softest velvet, and a variety of ladies' shawls.

This exhibit, though small, represents fifteen years' earnest endeavor at bringing the manufacture of woolen goods to absolute perfection in Oregon. It represents what a young state can do in one of the most difficult manufactures when such manufacture is backed by capital, energy, business ability and indomitable will. It represents the products of a factory which is favorably known in every city, town and hamlet on the Pacific coast where goods for men's wear are sold; an industry whose products are sought in markets as far east as Denver, Chicago and Cincinnati. No woolen goods made in America have achieved a higher reputation for durability, smoothness of finish and fastness of color than those manufactured at Oregon City. The company has accomplished this by employing the best workmen, putting in the latest style of improved machinery and using the very best material. For the last they do not have to go out of the state, and they disburse annually a very large sum among the wool growers of this portion of the state. They always carry a fine and large stock of [illegible] made goods and deserve [illegible] encouragement [illegible] the population which they [illegible] woolen fabrics, as well [illegible] have displayed [illegible] establishment of this kind against the [illegible] of [illegible] goods brought from [illegible] and from California. They deserve [illegible] extensive patronage by those who want the best goods [illegible] to keep [illegible] money in the state.

The depots for the Oregon City Woolen Mills are at Brown Bros. & Co., Nos. [illegible] and [illegible] Front street [illegible]. The [illegible] large variety [illegible] and youths' clothing, made from the goods manufactured by the Oregon City mills.

A. VAN BEURDEN'S DISPLAY

of machinery for watch making, deserves more than a passing notice. Mr. Van Beurden has in operation duplicates of machinery used by the Waltham, Mass., and the Elgin Illinois, watch companies, which were made to order for him last year at Waltham under his personal supervision. It is the only set of machinery of the kind in the state and is much admired by skilled mechanics for its ingenuity and efficiency. With this machinery, Mr. Van Beurden is enabled to make any part of a watch, from a pinion to a balance wheel and jewels, and in watch repairing it proves an immense advantage. The machinery is in operation every evening and all are invited to see its interesting workings.

CHAMPLIN & HOLLABAUGH

show in the south gallery, near the art department, a case filled with samples from their store, No. 109 First street. They show handsome sandals in black, blue, bronze, white and pink; ladies' button and side lace kid shoes of finest quality; fancy slippers for both sexes, and a number of men's hand made shoes of various styles. Messrs. Champlin & Hollabaugh have the sole agency of a number of the best eastern factories and have earned an enviable reputation for selling only the best goods manufactured, whether of low or high price. They secure genuine goods by dealing directly with manufacturing firms, at the same time avoiding the payment of heavy commissions. They are thus able to sell every quality of goods at the lowest relative price. Honorable and courteous dealing has ever been characteristic of this house, and has secured them the best class of trade. Special attention is given to orders from persons residing out of the city, and a good quality and a neat fit are always assured.

THE BLACKSMITH'S DREAM.

This most wonderful piece of mechanism was visited Saturday afternoon and evening by hundreds, who expressed the greatest surprise at its ingenuity and beauty. The "dream" is the result of fifteen years of labor of Mr. W. H. Robertson, and is the most ingenious, as well as the most interesting automaton ever shown on this coast, and is said by many to even surpass the celebrated Strasburg clock. The admission fee is so small—only 10 cents—that none should fail to see it.

TO-NIGHT'S PROGRAMME.

The following is the programme for the Washington Guard Band for to-night:

1—Grand March
2—Selections from Ernani.
3—Waltz, with introduction.
4—Gallop
5—Polka, "Soldiers' Joy"
6—Schubert's serenade.

GENERAL NOTES.

Among the rare objects on exhibition is a figure of an ancient warrior taken from the ruins of Pompeii in 1814, where it had been buried for two thousand years. It is shown by Dr. Gaines, who also shows a lot of the weapons of war used by natives of Australia, and a gorgeously beaded sash presented to the doctor by a chief of the Ojibway indians in 1836.

The railing of the gallery at the east end is adorned with a massive, handsome elk's head, contributed by Kahn Bros.

Bishop Nestor, of the Russian church, was in the city on Saturday en route from Alaska to San Francisco. In the afternoon he visited the Mechanics' Pavilion, attired in his customary ecclesiastical robe, and as he passed about the galleries was the observed of all observers.

Visitors who are compelled to surrender umbrellas and walking sticks should not be subjected to the additional annoyance of rudeness on the part of attendants. In several instances on Saturday the fellow whose duty it was to collect these articles, which by accident had gotten past the really polite doorkeepers, addressed ladies and others with boorish roughness when a milder manner would have accomplished his purpose.

SOCIETY NOTES IN WALLA WALLA.

WALLA WALLA, Oct. 21, 1879.

[illegible]

The first party was given by the Hon. Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] at their elegant home, [illegible] their charming [illegible] Dancing was [illegible] away to the [illegible] and in various [illegible] as imagination [illegible] possible.

Following [illegible] a ball a few [illegible] given [illegible] in a new brick [illegible] by the Corna. Mrs. P. B. Johnson was the active spirit in arranging for the occasion. It is said to have been one of the most successful affairs of the kind ever given in Walla Walla. The hall was large and the company [illegible] composed of the elite of the city. Ladies from the garrison, Mrs. Capt. Bantele and her sister, the [illegible] Miss Hayden, and Mrs. Lt. Backus, a [illegible] waltzer. Among the ladies from abroad was Miss Anderson from San Francisco, elegantly attired in a light blue brocade silk dress, hair dressed à la pompadour; Miss McCartney, from Boston, who wore a remarkably becoming dress of rich dark silk, and Mrs. Chas. Speck, of Portland, in a striking combination of light and dark brown silk, hair powdered, dressed high and [illegible] with ostrich plumes. The costumes of the ladies of the city formed a tres joli bouquet, the brilliant flowers of which would be too numerous to mention. As the many lightly tripping feet [illegible] over the waxed floor the hours of the night glided rapidly by until they embraced the "wee sma' hours" of the morning. "How softly falls the foot of time that only treads on flowers."

The most fashionable wedding of the season was that which occurred to-day in the nuptials of Mr. Frank J. Parker, the editor of the Walla Walla Statesman, and Miss Mattie Newell, daughter of Mr. W. H. Newell, the proprietress of the Statesman. The marriage ceremony took place in St. Paul's Episcopal Church, the Rev. Dr. Wells, late of Portland, officiating. The bride was given away by Probate Judge Guichard. She wore a becoming light brown cashmere traveling dress. The mother a very rich black silk trimmed with velvet. The church was filled with the beau monde of the city. From the church the happy couple were driven to the home of the bride's mother, where from twelve to half-after one they received the congratulations of their numerous friends. At two o'clock they left on the train for a wedding trip of some weeks below, with the best wishes of a host of friends. A certain two are singing now with Tannahill,

'Trees may bud and birds may sing,
Flowers may bloom and verdure spring,
Joy to me they canna bring,
Unless wi' thee, my dearie, O.'

They received many handsome wedding presents, a gold watch and chain from the brother of the groom; a beautiful gold lined cake basket from Adams Bros., gold and silver sardine fork from Gen. and Mrs. Jas. W. Forsyth; a handsome silver soup and gravy ladle from Mr. and Mrs. Thos. O'Brien; a set of beautiful ornaments, ear rings and brooch, from the groom's sister, and a gold spoons and from Judge and Mrs. Guichard; a fine silver ladle caster from Dr and Mrs Nichols; exquisite pair of napkin rings from Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Page; silver and gold lined goblet from Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gray; and handsome presents from Major and Mrs. Kiefer; J. P. Fox, of Frisco; Dr. and Mrs. Kellogg; P. B. Johnson and others.

On dit: Mrs. Chase goes below this winter for her health. Mr. and Mrs. Major Maynadier depart in November on a four months' leave of absence. They will be much missed. They will spend most of their time in Washington and New York their former homes. Mrs. Speck, of Portland, is visiting Mrs. P. B. Johnson. Mr. H. C. Clark, of Portland, is up here buying grain and making himself generally agreeable—so sorry he is married. Miss Hayden, of the garrison, will shortly leave for Colville much to the regret of many friends. Miss Gamble contemplates leaving Walla Walla soon, to reside in Baker City. She has been a great favorite here.

A brilliant wedding is on the tapis, the principals in the affair, an officer of the garrison and a charming belle of this city.

"In peace love tunes the shepherd's reed,
In war he mounts the warrior's steed."

Let this happy announcement be my ending,

"My writing has gone on at such a pace,
That its length is a disgrace."

WM. SCHEFFLER'S ST. HELENA

SANITARY, VACUUM DISTILLED GRAPE BRANDY AND GOOD OLD EDGE HILL WINES.

Mr. Scheffler is sole proprietor of the principle known as the vacuum process of distilling, by which the fusil oils are left with the residue and not incorporated with the brandy, leaving it pure and free from all deleterious substances which does and must exist in all alcoholic liquors distilled by the usual process of boiling heat. California Physicians have pronounced their preference of it to all other. Doctor Cox government revenue officer at Cincinnati, Ohio, says in his report, that after ten years' of close investigation he can safely say that very few, if any, pure wines or brandy are exported from the Old Continent to this. He has found none in his many analyses—that all are doctored before leaving France. The French Consul at Buenos Ayres writes home to his government that so much complaint is made there of the appearance of litharge and other dangerous drugs in all their French wines, that there is great danger of losing the trade of the Argentine States. Other proofs could be cited were it necessary, to prove the superiority of the best class of California wines and brandy. Orders from responsible parties, addressed to Wm Scheffler, or Geo. H. Beach, St. Helena, Napa county, Cal., will receive prompt attention.

Forewarned Forearmed.

Physicians and invalids use with confidence the Kaiser Celebrated German Elixir for Consumption and throat and lung disease. It is rich in the medical properties of tar, wild cherry etc. Is rendered perfectly harmless to the youngest child. This would have proved an Angel of Mercy in the household of those unhappy parents in Vallejo, Dixon, Beaver, Utah and numerous other places, whose children were slaughtered by quack medicine recommended by its owner to cure croup possessing no properties calculated to cure it, but instead a deadly drug which has slain its thousands. Be sure you get only German Elixir. The genuine bears the Prussian coat of arms and the fac-simile signature of Dr. Keller. Samples at all drug stores. Large size 75 cents.

Read and Learn for Yourself.

Many valuable discoveries and much useful knowledge is kept from the world, because of the immense expense in making them known to the people. This is not the case with BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP. Although but a few years introduced into this country, its sale now reaches in every town and village in the United States. Its wonderful success in curing consumption, severe Coughs, Pneumonia, Asthma and all other diseases of the throat and lungs, was first made known by distributing every year, for three years, over 400,000 bottles to the afflicted free of charge by druggists. No such a test of merit was ever given before to any other preparation. Could you ask more? Go to your druggist and get a bottle for 75 cents and try it. Sample bottles 10 cents.

MONDAY MORNING, OCT. 27, 1879.

GEN. GRANT AND THE PRESIDENCY.

Views Concerning Gen. Grant—A Third Term—President Hayes and the Solid South.

OLYMPIA, Oct. 22.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The position taken by your paper in regard to Gen. Grant, is no doubt that which would hold good with a majority of the republican party. There are few, comparatively speaking, who have any desire to detract from the praise or merit due Gen. Grant as a soldier and patriot, and while his services as president may be a matter of dispute as to their especial value, still that they were attended with much important good, considering the time and the circumstances, all reasonable and impartial minds will admit.

To-day, Grant's history belongs to his country. That history and his country stand crowned with honor and success; and for that reason it is environed with the reverence and affection of his countrymen. He is to-day loved, not for himself, but for the part he filled in the history of his country and the success with which he fulfilled it. From this day forward let there be one act of his life to mar the historical beauty of his character as now seen and viewed by his fellow countrymen and the nations of the world, and that moment he becomes an insignificant factor in history, the child of fate and an eyesore to his fellow citizens.

There is that common understanding among men, which, though we cannot explain or account for, it still exists as part of our better nature. When once defied or violated it slowly but surely encircles the intruder and hurls him to destruction. This would certainly be Gen. Grant's fate were he to permit himself to be the catspaw of the politicians (so-called) who, regardless of his high character, would for their own selfish purposes drag it into party conventions and ward club broils. The character before the country which, without the unanimous call of his countrymen, and then for the most grand and patriotic purpose, steps beyond the boundary fixed by Washington and common usage, will certainly have cause to regret his act.

The man that breaks down that common barrier to further and prolong personal ambition, will not be looked upon as a patriot by the people, but as the representative of corporate or money power seeking to strengthen centralization and destroy the mainpoise of our form of government. Were the "father of his country" himself to return and attempt to cross this barrier, he would to-day be opposed by the people. You cannot dissociate, at this day, the idea of a third term and imperialism, dictatorship and monarchy. General Grant cannot afford to allow his character to be connected with these names and the discussion and vituperation that must certainly follow. To-day our country wants not the man who represents its power, but the man who represents its reason; the man who represents its civil, not its military greatness. General Grant, it may be said, represents both, but we cannot disconnect his military from his civil record and still entertain for him the same feelings of respect and patriotic affection. The war spirit must cease to predominate if we would be free, if we would maintain a free republic. Ours is a civil not a military institution, and he who represents the former cannot, when associated with power, in time of peace long retain the love and respect of civilians. The republican party to-day is more united and better prepared for a national campaign than it has been for the last six years. Its own war spirit in time of peace came near being its strongest and most bitter foe—the rock against which it almost dashed itself to pieces. Inaugurate this spirit again and neither the solid south nor the bloody shirt will keep in the ranks the men whose return to the republican party, since the beginning of President Hayes' administration, has assured republican success. Long residence in the south and a knowledge of the politics of our country, causes me to believe that President Hayes, notwithstanding his many mistakes, has done more to destroy the democratic party and the effects of a solid south, than any act of the republican party for the last ten years. The curiosity to see and hear the democratic party has been satisfied, and the exhibition has not only disgusted the curious, but the exhibitors themselves.

TUMWATER.

SAVAGE MONSTERS.

Justifying Miss Rose Meeker's letter on the Indians and the Indian policy of the country, Mrs. Swisshelm in a letter to the Chicago Tribune says:

The Indian combines in himself the bestiality of the swine, the ferocity of the tiger, and the ingenuity of the demon. Brave men endure at his hands the most horrible of tortures, and the outrages perpetrated on matrons, maidens, and even infants, partake equally of these three Indian characteristics. But the maddening feature of the whole horror is the knowledge that the crimes are committed by the proteges, the wards, of that government to which the victims owe allegiance, and which they support by paying taxes and giving their lives when called upon—of that government which taxes them to support these criminals in idleness. Every victim of an Indian outbreak knows that every Indian knows that the Christianity and benevolence of the land will be stirred to its lowest depth to save him from the punishment due, a thousand fold, to his unutterable crimes. Every Christian maid and matron, undergoing the nameless horrors to which hundreds have been subjected, knows that the brutal fiend who makes her body unfit for a soul's residence, knows that Christian matrons, in snowy caps and kerchiefs, will besiege the White House, with prayers for his pardon, and that, through their efforts, his crimes will be rewarded, and he preserved to repeat them.

A member of the British parliament, defending against a charge of cruelty certain British colonists in a distant part of the globe who had been obliged to resort to strong measures to defend themselves against the savages surrounding them, said: "The first business of the colonist is to extirpate the wild animals, and of all wild animals the most noxious is the wild man." In this statement the whole case is summed up. The San Francisco Post says:

The unhallowed massacres of Canby, Custer, Thornburgh and Meeker will stand out in history forever in crimson colors, attesting the hellish depravity of a race of miscreants whose longer existence is a blunder and a crime. Rattlesnakes are angels in comparison, for they give warning before they strike to kill. We have no patience with the sentimentalists who, over tea and toast, prate of humanitarian considerations, while at regular intervals the scalped and dismembered bodies of our bravest defenders, and the outraged forms of pioneer women, furnish food for crows and wolves. We sigh for a little retributive justice which Great Britain administers to her uncivilized enemies; either blow them to atoms from the cannon's mouth, or slay them on sight when found in rebellion.

NASBY.

MR. NASBY GIVES PLAIN DIRECTIONS FOR CONDUCTING JOINT DISCUSSIONS IN THE SOUTH DURING THE NEXT CAMPAIGN, WITH OTHER HINTS.

CONFEDERIT X ROADS, (Wich is in the state uv Kentucky), Sept. 22, 1879.—The next election is liable to be eggstremely eggcitin, and there shood be in the south a unity uv ackshun and a uniformity uv means to be yoosed, that our success may be ashoored. We must hev a solid south, that the vote uv the states now groanin under federal despotism may be throwed for the candidate wich will recognize the fact that the south hez rites, and is reddy to maintain em.

In all jint discussions in the southern states these rools shood be observed:

1. When a radical shows a desire to discuss the rifle should never be yoosed. The revolver is better, for there are six loads in a navy, and the second may accomplish what the first failed to do, but the shotgun is the proper weepin, for it scatters, and no matter how shaky a shivelry's hand may be, the tother discusser can't get out of range uv a charge uv shot.

2. Never depend upon a singlebarreled gun. It may take two charges to finish a obnoxious discusser.

3. Alluz yoose the oldfashioned muzzle loader. The cartridges that yoo hev to yoose with the breechloader are loaded with small shot, which won't alluz do. And besides, the breechloader is a Yankee weepin, and no troo Southerner will yoose anything uv Yankee make, onless he kin git it on credit.

4. Load with a heavy charge uv buckshot, and alluz put in two or three slugs. Slugs is more convincin than buckshot, ez they tear a bigger hole.

5. Alluz aim at the button on the back uv the coat. The charge then penetrates the kidneys and liver, and the disturber dies on the spot. It is crooelty to prolong their sufferins.

6. Be keerful to observe the law. The moment the disturber quits kickin, go afore the neerest Justice uv the Peace and deliver yourself up. He will immejitly admit yoo to bail, and the infamus charge that the Southern citizen is not lawabidin will be disproved.

7. Free speech is the bulwark uv our civilization, and every body must enjoy it, but Abolitionists can't be allowed, for it must be understood that only dimekrats kin enjoy that privilege. Meetings uv radikels, being incendiary, must be sternly suppressed.

8. A speeker shood never be shot while on the stand. Lay for him when he hez got through. It will be found that after a few uv em hev been silenced, none will vencher on it.

9. Nigger meetin houses and Sunday skools can not be permitted, ez they are the hotbeds uv radikelism. One Methodist preacher will offset the good work uv a dozen groseries.

10. Post masters shood see to it that no radikel papers are permitted to be circulated. Noosepapers is a noosence, and if the radikels are prevented from taken em, they will be entirely suppressed in our seckshun, ez the troo dimekrat don't care to take em at all. The less noospaper the better the dimekrat.

Thar are other things that mite be recommended, but ef these iz follered out ther is no doubt uv a glorious dimekratic victory next yeer. With Tilden's bar'l in the north and the shotgun in the south we kin elect the next president. May the Lord favor us.

PETROLEUM V. NASBY,
Dimekratic Organizer.

Mrs General Fremont.

This lady is regarded as one of the good angels of Arizona. She is winning golden opinions of every one, especially of the poor. Here is what an Arizona paper says of her:

A governor's wife is usually contented with quietly wearing the unobtrusive honors of her position, but Mrs. General Fremont, of Arizona, bids fair to do as much and as substantial good to the territory over which her husband is chief magistrate as the general himself. The estimable lady has organized several history classes among the grown sons and daughters of the poor settlers in that country, and it is said her efforts have already been attended with marked benefits to the people, who are fast being converted to the usages of a higher order of civilization than is characteristic of these alkali plains of the far west.

A Wholesome Lesson.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The World, speaking of the present business revival, says: At one time it was said of California that the smallest coin known to trade was a quarter of a dollar, and whether this was ever literally true even of California or not, the saying was at the time a symptom of the condition of trade throughout the country. That was an epoch of coarse extravagance and wanton waste, and if the pinching times we have undergone have had the effect of permanently changing it, of inducing buyers generally to count the cost of what they buy, and to be content with small and certain profits on what they sell, our adversity will have had an excellent effect, not only upon the national welfare, but also upon the national character.

Advice of the Father of the Period.

[From the New York Graphic.]

"My son and daughter, too," quoth the father of the period, "my advice is not to waste too much time on Greek, Latin or music, but rather train up the respective legs I have given you in the way they should go, and become pedestrians and pedestriennes. Seest thou yon poor man, pale of face, emaciated and clad in threadbare garments? He in youth devoted his head to the acquisition of knowledge, and he starves by it. Seest thou yon short, little man, taciturn and somewhat ungrammatical of speech? That is Rowell. He in early youth, on the banks of the Cam, used what mind he has in the cultivation of heels. Behold his reward. He has won fame and is worth $50 000."
